A $700,000 hotel may be constructed on the property now occupied by the Okanagan Museum and the board of trade office.

City council this week granted Okanagan Investments Ltd., a 75-day option to purchase the land for $40,000. The property has a 130-foot frontage on Bernard Avenue, and extends back to the old provincial public works building.

The investment firm has until November 26 to take up the option, but purchase will have to be finally ratified by ratepayers in the form of a plebiscite.

There was some discussion by council as to whether the public will still have access to lakeshore land adjacent to the proposed hotel. However, in approving the investment company's offer, aldermen stipulated that the westerly limits of the property will be defined at a later date.

Mayor J. J. Ladd said several other parties are also interested in the property, but this is the first concrete move that has been made toward building another hotel in the city.

O. St. P. Aitkens, president of Okanagan Investments, this morning pointed out that his firm is merely acting as agents. The 75-day option is necessary so that a survey can be made of potential business.

"There is no use putting up a new hotel only to find that business does not warrant such an expenditure," he remarked. Mr. Aitkens said a survey specialist will arrive today.

Part of the property facing the lake was formerly owned by the provincial government, but the city exchanged valuable lakeshore land on Water Street several years ago in order to pave the way for the construction of the court house which was officially opened last August.

Mayor J. J. Ladd, commenting on the proposed transaction, this morning pointed out that several details have yet to be finalized.

DETAIL SURVEY
The westerly extremity of the proposed site, extends several feet west of the present museum building. The area where the replica of Gogogo now stands, is not included in the transaction.

Mr. Ladd said the result of the survey will be made available to the city, even though it is not considered economically feasible to build another hotel. Survey entails tourist traffic business turn-over, French, both appointments are effective as of September 1st at a salary as per union agreement.

J. A. Young was selected as janitor-bus driver for the Lakeview Heights Elementary on a ten months basis at a monthly salary of $127.50. This appointment has been approved and confirmed subject to a date to be fixed accordingly. Temporary arrangements for the operation of the bus have been made by the board.

$10,000 strike money distributed
Total of $10,000 strike money was distributed by the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Unions (FVWU) to those who served on the picket lines during the two week strike.

Brian Cooney, union organizer, was unable to say how many people received strike money, but picket duty payment was based on 25 cents an hour. Money was distributed to men and women over an area from Vernon south to Osoyoos and Keremeos. The International Union (AFL) contributed between $3,000 and $10,000, Mr. Cooney said.

Meanwhile steps are going ahead for 3,000 FVWU members to amalgamate with the teamsters International. Move has been approved by the general members, and necessary papers should be signed within the next week, Mr. Cooney said.

Amalgamation will not affect the local autonomy of the union, he emphasized. Teamsters union takes in fruit and vegetable workers in states of Washington, Oregon and California.

Shannon, who has taken over Jubilee Motors, 542 Bernard Avenue; Christopher Steffens, building contractor, 1655 Leon Avenue; George W. Jensen, operating as "Okanagan Duraclean". He took the business over from Paul H. Neufeld.

FINED NO EVIDENCE
R.C.M.P. and the special traffic advisory committee are of the opinion that solution to excessive noise in the vicinity of the hospital is to "educate" motorists.

In recent weeks there have been many complaints over speeding motorists, particularly after 10:30 p.m. Police and traffic committee recently made separate surveys and they did not find evidence of excessive speeding.

"In most cases it's through slamming of car doors or hum of tires on the pavement," remarked Ald. Jack Treudgold.

STOP SIGNS
Request for erection of stop signs at the intersection of Laurier and Ethel and DeHart and Ethel Street was made by Dr. Gordon Wilson. He said there had been many near accidents and 32 children under 12 years of age live in the vicinity.

Ald. Jack Treudgold said a survey regarding stop signs is currently underway. Matter was referred to the traffic control advisory committee.

APPECIATED GREETINGS
J. S. C. Moffit, president of Pacific National Exhibition, thanked the city for greetings extended to the PNE through cyclist, Mal Potts. Mr. Potts, who cycled from Kelowna to Vancouver, delivered a letter to Mr. Moffit which was written by acting-mayor Dick Parkinson. Since the letter was received, it was learned that Mrs. Moffit died suddenly in Vancouver this week.

TRAFIC REPORT
There were a total of 100 parking infractions last month. 41 motorists receiving "courtesy tickets", special traffic constable L. A. N. Potterton stated in his monthly report. Mr. Potterton found traffic was orderly (three people were warned for jaywalking). Fines collected totalled $122.50.

Site of proposed $700,000 hotel

The above picture shows the site of the proposed $700,000 hotel which may be constructed on Bernard Avenue, overlooking Lake Okanagan.

Okanagan Investments Ltd., has been granted an option to purchase the property for $40,000 on behalf of a client. The proposed site takes in the Okanagan Museum and the board of trade office. Frontage on Bernard Avenue is approximately 130 feet, and depth of the property extends back to the old provincial department of public works building.

Picture on the left shows the rear of the property, although it is understood the building on the corner of Mill Street and Bernard Avenue is not involved in the transaction.

A structure formerly occupied by the department of public works, adjacent to the old ferry wharf, will be moved this week-end. It has been turned over to the Kelowna and District Society for Retarded Children, and will be erected on the new site, next to the Little Theatre Building on Doyle Avenue.

Hail strikes Mission area

Hail struck the Okanagan Mission and East Kelowna areas last night just as the growers in the Central Okanagan were about to start picking the bountiful apple crop.

B.C. Fruit Growers Mutual Hail Insurance Co. said full extent of the damage will not be determined until later in the day, but there will be a considerable amount of down-grading. Apples were the only fruit affected, as other crops have been harvested.

Hail stones ranged from rice to marble size. In some instances the storm last night minutes followed by rain.

Meanwhile rain which has fallen during the past 48 hours, will help considerably in coloring apples. During the past two days precipitation amounted to .47 inch in the Kelowna area.

Community Chest campaign to open early next month

1955 Kelowna and District Community Chest campaign will get underway October 3. Objective is the same as last year, $21,500.

"Kelowna is growing—community needs are growing too," is the slogan adopted by campaign officials. There are 16 participating agencies, and as a result of allocations made to various organizations last year, it was disclosed that out of each dollar collected, 71 cents went to health and welfare; 21 cents to youth work; four cents on operation, and an equivalent amount in the reserve fund.

Campaign chairman Dave Peachey said he hoped more people would take advantage of the monthly payment plan if they are unable to make an outright contribution. Such payments may be made by payroll deduction, but he also pointed out that local banks are willing to co-operate and deduct a stipulated amount from customers' accounts.

PARTICIPATING GROUPS
Organizations participating in the "Chest" are Canadian National Institute for the Blind; Salvation Army; Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society; Kelowna Homemaker Service; Kelowna and District Society for Retarded Children; Kelowna Health and Welfare Fund; Ladies' Auxiliary to Kelowna Health Unit; Auxiliary to the David Lloyd-Jones Homes; clothing depot of Local Council of Women; Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire; Kelowna Athletic Round Table; Kelowna Band Association; Boy Scout Association; Navy League of Canada; St. John Ambulance Association; and Senior Citizens Association. The latter two have joined the group this year.

Arena managers will confer this week-end

Arena managers from coastal and interior points will attend a semi-annual conference here Friday and Saturday. About 12 representatives will attend.

Highlight of the discussion will be the 10 per cent B.C. amusement tax, which the arenas and other sporting organizations have strongly criticized. General operation of arenas and concessions will also be discussed.

Joe Dukowski, Victoria, president of B.C. Arena Managers, will preside over the parley.

Natural gas

Representatives of Inland Natural Gas Co. outlined tentative plans for distributing natural gas in the city, when they conferred with city council in committee Monday night.

John A. McMahon, executive vice-president of Inland and two assistants, outlined the proposal. It is understood that considerable discussion took place over the matter of interpreting the proposed agreement between the city and Inland.

Mayor J. J. Ladd indicated a report may be made at next Monday's council meeting.

Economic reasons

Groundsman at hospital laid off due to lack of finances, says board

Financial position of the Kelowna General Hospital has reached such a critical point, that the directors have been forced to temporarily disperse with the services of a groundsman.

Recently there was a complaint in the form of a "Letter to the Editor" from an inspector of the B.C. over the poor condition of the grounds. The letter stated that the hospital lawns and flower beds have always been kept in excellent shape, but recently have been allowed to deteriorate.

Explaining the board's position, hospital administrator C. F. Lavery said the local hospital in common with many others is facing the problem of operating within a sum of money determined by BCHHS.

Hospital board therefore considered it advisable to spend what funds are available on services directly related to the patient and economize where possible on the indirect services. Policy involved temporarily dispensing with the services of the groundsman, Mr. Lavery said.

It was also disclosed that an inspector of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service consultation division, and it is hoped that immediately thereafter sufficient information will be made available to establish answers to the difficulties which have given concern to the board, not the least of which has been the grounds.

Following is the text of Mr. Lavery's reply:

"I have read with interest the letter signed 'Garden Lover' in your issue of the 8th September referring to the present condition of the hospital grounds. I think the letter calls for a reply, insofar as it raises a question which probably has intrigued many more than your anonymous correspondent.

"In common with many other hospitals the local Kelowna General Hospital, in 1955, is facing the problem of operating within a sum of money determined by B.C. Hospital Insurance Service, and up to date we have not succeeded in so doing. The essential point is that this amount is not determined by the board of directors but by B.C.H.I.S., who seemingly adjudicate on and cut a budget which has been submitted by the hospital staff to the directors, and voted on by the directors.

"I have not approached my principals for authority to disclose our difficulties, but I do assure you that much time and effort has been devoted by them in an endeavour to find ways and means to meet a worsening financial situation, yet at the same time avoid lowering the standard of patient care at the hospital. The board therefore considered it advisable to spend what funds are available on services directly related to the patient, and economize where possible on the indirect services. That policy involved temporarily dispensing with the services of our groundsman, I use the word temporarily advisedly because we do hope that before long funds will be made available for us to spend on restoring our grounds to their former condition.

"In the not too distant future the Question of ambulance costs will be brought to the attention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities at the annual meeting slated next month in Prince George.

Matter was briefly discussed at this week's council meeting when the monthly report of the fire department disclosed that the cost of answering outside ambulance calls was $128.05, compared with $110.00 in the city.

For some time municipalities have been endeavoring to obtain government assistance in operating ambulances, in view of the fact many of the calls originate outside municipal limits.

Last month the Kelowna ambulance answered a total of 33 calls, 22 of which were inside the city limits. Rural calls were: Okanagan Mission 2; Glenora 1; Rutland 4; Salmon Arm 1; Winfield 2; Westbank 1.

Fire Chief Gore also disclosed 83 buildings were inspected, and instructions issued for the removal of four potential fire hazards; three permits were issued for oil burners, and the brigade responded to eight fire alarms, three of which were false.

THREE READINGS

First three readings were given to a bylaw authorizing the city to sell a piece of property to Mrs. Agnes Pearl Wright for $1200. Property is located adjacent to the Elks Club on Leon Avenue. Mrs. Wright intends to construct an apartment.

United Kingdom will again buy Canadian apples

Official confirmation was received this week that the British government is allocating money for the importation of Canadian and American apples.

News was a "shot in the arm" to the Okanagan fruit industry which was plagued by a two-week strike of packinghouse workers. According to B.C. Tree Fruits, the sales agency for 4200-odd growers, the British government has set aside £1,650,000 of which £990,000 or approximately $2,712,600 is to be used for purchase of Canadian apples and £660,000 for American fruit.

This is approximately ten percent more than a year ago. However, the agreement stipulates that only one-sixth of the total may be imported into the United Kingdom prior to January 1. Tree Fruits pointed out this may restrict the quantity of McIntosh and Jonathans as the Mac crop is largely sold by the end of the year.

Last year's shipments were principally Winesaps, Delicious and Newtowns.

Tree Fruits stated price per box has not yet been agreed upon. This is a matter of trading, and import licenses will not be issued to U.K. traders for another two weeks.

R. P. Walrod, general manager Tree Fruits, said the Canadian allocation is available to all producing sections. Availability of desired varieties, grades and sizes, as well as delivered prices, will to a large extent, govern the quantity which U.K. buyers will purchase from B.C. or from Ontario, Quebec and particularly from Nova Scotia.

BUMPER N.S. CROP
Latest crop reports from Nova Scotia indicate that the Maritime yield may reach four million bushels, the largest since 1948. Mr. Walrod pointed out these growers will naturally be looking to the United Kingdom for an outlet of substantial quantities of their better varieties and grades, and, due to location, are favored with less transportation costs. B.C. on the other hand, has always enjoyed a reputation for top quality fruit and pack, and in the past has always had varieties most acceptable to the British consumers.

CAREFUL HANDLING
Mr. Walrod said that while some of last year's shipments to the U.K. resulted in some dissatisfaction to overseas buyers, with improved weather conditions, he is confident that the overall quality of B.C. produce has not deteriorated.

"All reasonable steps will be taken to insure satisfactory delivery of overseas shipments. Those handling the fruit, from the growers, through the packinghouse, the transportation companies as well as dock handlers, must be made aware of the necessity for proper care and handling of apples. At the expense of being unable to fulfill U.K. orders in entirety, only those apples which are capable of withstanding the long journey will be directed to overseas markets," Mr. Walrod said.

Prune shipments will reach volume proportions later this week. First part-car shipment of grapes will be made Friday, with first straight car loading early next week. Demand for crabapples has been good.

Marketing board will investigate handling charges

Provincial marketing board will examine charges made by various packinghouses in the handling of the interior vegetable crop.

This was disclosed by Hon. Kenneth Kiernan, minister of agriculture, following a plebiscite held among growers. In the recent plebiscite 308 voted in favor of continuing the scheme; 153 voted to end controlled marketing and 21 ballots were spoiled.

Mr. Kiernan said 758 ballots were mailed out to growers, and in view of the fact only 482 were returned, it indicated either a lack of interest or lack of understanding on the part of a substantial number.

"While the vote may have been influenced by considerations not directly related to the principals of orderly marketing, it appears evident that a thorough examination of the processes involved in the marketing of interior vegetables is warranted," he said.

Linda Ghezzi lauded for summer work

A comprehensive report from Miss Linda Ghezzi, Kelowna's playground supervisor, showed that she had carried out a thorough program during the summer months, in spite of some handicaps. The report was presented to the executive of KART at their fall meeting on Tuesday night.

Miss Ghezzi said she had enjoyed the work and would recommend it to any young girl planning on going in for teaching.

RECOGNIZE WORKERS

KART heartily concurred with Miss Ghezzi's recommendation that some recognition be made of the volunteer workers who had helped her make the program possible. Misses Betty Rae Clark, Frances Jackson, Ann Cremer, Gail McFetridge and Cecilia Spencer were the girls mentioned in the report.

KART voted to send a sincere letter of appreciation to Miss Ghezzi for the splendid job she did in the summer's work and for her detailed report on the playground situation. Miss Ghezzi, who is going to study further in the field of recreation, will be available next year for the job of supervisor, the executive was informed.

Miss Ghezzi's report stated that she felt the swimming program at Strathcona and Sutherland parks, rather than conflicting with the Aquatic program, aided it by giving children from suburban areas the chance to attend. She mentioned having children of eight and nine years of age in her classes who had never been able to attend the classes at the Aquatic pool.

SOME DRAWBACKS

Some of the drawbacks of the summer were: the deplorable condition of Osprey Park; insufficient help for the leaders in the program; failure by the instructresses at City Park to follow the program, and resultant decline in attendance; insufficient publicity to the program, hours, and points of participation.

On the credit side of the ledger, Miss Ghezzi mentioned the wonderful cooperation and attendance of the children at Strathcona Park, and at Sutherland Park, where she felt the swimming should be the big part of the program.

R. N. "Whitey" Patriquin said he felt sure the condition of Osprey Park would be attended to if the matter was brought to the attention of the city council, and the executive agreed that there should be some type of shelter where the children could work with their plasticine, cut-outs and other items on the program.

"KART felt the summer had been a very good one, and one KART member mentioned his admiration of the job Miss Ghezzi had done in taking 50 children across the lake for a hike and picnic. He felt this was a big undertaking, but was only one of the many outings provided in Miss Ghezzi's program this summer."

KART favors grant toward art classes

A letter from Marjorie M. Ratliff requesting aid from KART in the continuance of the art classes, received favorable consideration by the executive Tuesday night.

Mrs. Ratliff prefaced her reading of the letter with some explanation on the work done by Mrs. Marion Griggby, who left a job with the Vancouver instructional staff to come to Kelowna.

Presently the Kelowna classes, having no municipal aid such as they have in Vancouver, are required to charge $3.50 per month, which limits the number of children able to participate.

It is the hope of the art lovers, interested in the project, to be able to bring the charge down to $1.00 per month for this year's classes, which should take place from October to March if arrangements go ahead on schedule.

It was agreed to stay with the present policy of scrolls, and some discussion took place as to the interpretation of those eligible for the award of Merit to those winning Okanagan Mainline championships, and Championship Awards to those winning B.C. titles.

Minor ball league finishes season with $300 in kitty

The report from the minor baseball league on the activities of the Little and Pony Leagues this year was so favorable it surprised KART executive Tuesday night.

"Would you mind reading those figures again," remarked Hugh Caley.

President W. N. "Whitey" Patriquin, happily complied, remarking "I have never seen such a fine report. They have everything itemized down to the last 50 cent piece."

The report showed that the leagues, which started out with less than $10 at the season opening, now stood with an excess of $300, and the strong possibility of a good season next year.

Minor league officials had agreed previously to equip the teams with uniforms next year, greatly enhancing the appearance of the games. This year the boys were outfitted with caps, but uniforms were out of sight.

BANQUET OF CHAMPIONS

The fall Banquet of Champions was also discussed, and it was decided to try to obtain a speaker from the swimming world, or from the Canadian football sphere, if the Grey Cup schedule would permit. The date for the banquet, which will probably be the latter part of November, will not be decided until some further information on the guest speaker is available.

A suggestion from John Jardine that the present scrolls be done away with in favor of blazer or sweater crests was discussed, and James Pantou declared that "the crests can get dirty or worn out, and the scrolls, which are very much cheaper, can be framed and put on the wall, lasting much longer."

It was agreed to stay with the present policy of scrolls, and some discussion took place as to the interpretation of those eligible for the award of Merit to those winning Okanagan Mainline championships, and Championship Awards to those winning B.C. titles.

It was agreed to continue with the present policy of awarding Certificates of Merit to those winning Okanagan Mainline championships, and Championship Awards to those winning B.C. titles.

A three-way tie in the high aggregate for the BCD's rifle association club shoot on Sunday, made a shoot-off necessary, as 15 rifle shots battled it out for the shields and prizes.

Clarence Henderson won the tie-breaking shot, after being evened up with C. Lee and H. Henderson, at 98 points apiece for the day's shooting.

Pictured above are members of the wedding party who attended Mr. and Mrs. Robert Riesig when they were married recently. Standing (left to right) are: Aubrey Brooks, head usher; Richard Priest, groomsmen; Mr. and Mrs. Riesig; Murray Mackie, groomsmen; Ernest Fairholm and Bill Stratton, ushers. Seated are (left to right): Juanita Priest; Pamela Millar and Bernice Pettigrew.

An archway, adorned with cedar boughs, white gladioli, and white wedding bells, formed a pretty setting in the Evangel Tabernacle on Saturday, September 3, for the early evening wedding of Miss Beverly June Priest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Priest, 969 Bernard Ave., to Mr. Robert Ross Riesig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Riesig, of Vancouver. Rev. Cameron Stevenson officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of delicate lace over satin, topped with a lace bolero length jacket with Peter Pan collar and lily point sleeves. The deep skirt flounce of nylon tulle was outlined with a dainty pleated nylon frill and the bouffant skirt stood out gracefully over crinolines. She chose white mesh pumps and she wore a pearl necklace belonging to her grandmother. Her lace edged veil was held in place with a half-hat trimmed with pearls and she carried a bouquet of red roses set in a white satin heart trimmed with nylon lace.

Miss Juanita Agnes Priest, was chosen to be her sister's maid of honor while Miss Bernice Pettigrew was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of pink lace and net and were styled similarly to the bridal gown except for their cap sleeve boleros and the inset of gathered tulle across the top of the strapless bodices. Each wore a chapel length veil of pink nylon tulle which was held in place with a tiara of white roses. Their colonial bouquets were pink roses encircled with blue gladioli, and they wore elbow length mitts of pink net. Little Pamela Millar, as flower-girl, was gown in pink net over embroidered cotton. She wore a coronet of flowers and carried a basket of blue ester reeds and pink roses.

Attending the groom was the bride's brother, Richard P. Priest, and Mr. Murray Mackie while Mr. Aubrey Brooks, Mr. Bill Stratton and Mr. Ernest Fairholm ushered. Soloist was Mrs. Florence Carlson with Mrs. Cameron Stevenson as accompanist.

Following the ceremony, a reception for about 170 guests was held in the Kelowna Little Theatre building with Mr. Ross Lemmon, emceeing the program. For the occasion the bride's mother chose a royal blue tulle sheath dress topped with a mink stole. Her hat and accessories were misty pink and she wore blue rhinestone necklace and earrings and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a blue silk gown with pink accessories and a white wool stole, and her corsage was pink carnations.

Centering the bride's table was a three-tiered wedding cake flanked on either side by white tapers in a double candlestick and a bouquet of gladioli. Mr. Bill Millar proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded. Servitors were Miss Audrey Priest, cousin of the bride, Miss Dorcen Wells, and Miss Jean McGregor while Mrs. Patricia Spence and Mrs. Lemmon presided at the urns.

Among the out of town guests was the bride's brother, L.A.C. Richard Priest who is stationed with the R.C.A.F. in Trenton, Ontario. Other guests included Mr. Phil Shepp, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. H. Priest, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. Paulson, and Mr. and Mrs. John Watson, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. G. Knowles, New Westminster, and Mr. and Mrs. Schrader, Penticton. Guests of honor from the Bank of Commerce where the groom is employed were Mr. A. D. Cryderman, manager, and Mrs. Cryderman, Mr. C. B. Porter, assistant manager, and Mrs. Porter, while Mr. Art Jackson, a business associate of the bride's father and Mrs. Jackson were also present.

RESIDE IN KELLOWNA For their short honeymoon trip spent in the United States, the bride donned a grey fleck wool suit in box style. She wore white accessories and her corsage, a gift from the groom, was pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Riesig have since taken up residence on Laurier Ave.

Newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Billings, Hither and Yon will make future home in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, will be the future home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Billings Jr., whose marriage took place at St. Theresa's Catholic Church, Rutland, Rev. Patrick McCarthy officiating at the nuptial mass for the former Elizabeth Bauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bauer, R.R. 2, and Mr. John R. Billings, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Billings of Philadelphia.

For the occasion, the church was attractively decorated with baskets of multi-colored gladioli, and the bride's younger brothers, Nick and Joe Bauer, served as altar boys at their sister's wedding. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz-length dress of nylon net, silk-embroidered with True Lovers knots and floral sprays, piced over satin. The bouffant skirt stood out gracefully over crinolines and large flat bows of embroidered net at the shoulders accented the wide "V" neckline. Her three-quarter length gloves were of the same material and she wore white pumps. A shell of tulle over satin, applied with lace flowers set with opalescent sequins held in place her scallop-edged finger-tip veil. The only jewellery worn by the bride was a pair of pearl and gold alligree earrings, a gift from the groom, and she carried a hand bouquet of steplike and purple heather, centered with two mauve cattleya orchids, which were fashioned into a corsage and later detached to be worn with her travelling costume.

The bride's cousin, Miss Marie Schmidt, was her only attendant. She wore a pink lace ballerina length gown fashioned with a strapless bodice, outlined with rhinestones. Her matching lace bolero was designed with a Peter Pan collar and cap sleeves, while crinolines emphasized the fullness of her skirt. She wore pink net gloves and a matching bandeau of pleated pink tulle and rosettes and carried a colonial nosegay of pink rosettes and blue tinted gladioli.

Mr. John Bauer, brother of the bride, supported the groom while Mr. John Bauer, Jr., ushered. Soloist was Mrs. Howard Shea who sang "Just for Today" and "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register.

WEDDING BREAKFAST Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast for the immediate family was held at the home of the bride's parents with a reception and

MR. AND MRS. J. R. BILLINGS

For the occasion, the bride's mother chose a dusty-rose afternoon dress fashioned with a draped bodice, and side pleats in the skirt. Her accessories were navy and white and she wore a corsage of pink rosettes. The groom's mother, was attractively attired in a frock of smoke blue tulle styled with a round neckline and cap sleeves. Dainty gathered silk ribbon and sequins in matching shades of blue patterned the bodice and the upper part of the gored skirt. Her hat of pale blue opalescent sequins, pale blue gloves in the same tone, and her corsage of pink roses completed her ensemble.

The bride's table, covered with a beautiful, hand-embroidered lace tablecloth, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, baked by the bride's mother. It was flanked on either side by low bouquets of white chrysanthemums and pink snapdragons, matching the tiny clusters of pink and white flowers that adorned all the cake, and tall white tapers in crystal holders.

Toast to the bride, proposed by Father McCarthy, was suitably responded to by the groom. The groomsmen proposed the toast to the bridesmaid, and read the telegram of congratulation. Following the dinner, a wedding dance was held in the Aquatic ballroom.

For going-away the bride changed to a navy suit with matching navy velvet hat trimmed with navy satin leaves, and white shoes and gloves. The two orchids from her wedding bouquet formed her corsage. Guests from out-of-town included the parents of the groom from Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ziajka, the bride's brother-in-law and sister, and Mr. and Mrs. E. It is estimated that in 1955 governments in Canada will spend $6,095 billions, half a billion dollars more than their estimated revenues.

So many gifts that we possess
When given out leave none the less;
Our blessings come when we've begun,
To aid or comfort any one.
Our cup of blessings overflow
From kindly acts that we bestow;
So best of what we all possess,
When given out, leave none the less.

Greenwood; fine arts, Mrs. Gwen Lamont; crafts, Mrs. Eleanor Ford; photography, E. E. Hewlett; woodwork, W. A. Drew; flowers, fruit and vegetables, W. F. Morton, district horticulturist.

Trophies were present by Jack Thompson of CKOV.

COLORFUL DISPLAY

A large crowd filled the community hall. At the entrance were two Indian figures in full regalia, and the trophies for competition were displayed. Large baskets of gladioli and other flowers decorated the stage, where refreshments were served. Tables were arranged the length of the hall, for exhibits.

On division 1 were cakes and pies, home cooking and canning. Division 2, had fancy work and sewing which was very attractive. Of special mention were knitted baby garments, men's knitted sweaters and Afghans.

Division 3, fine arts, a very interesting exhibition of paintings by Gwen Lamont of early days in Kelowna. Included was the first public school at Okanagan Mission, 1892-93; Eli Lequime's barn, 1899; Beavoulin church, 1892; and the old Belle Vue Hotel.

LEATHER WORK

Several exhibits of weaving, leather work, shell work and pottery by Reg Dixon, some lovely hooked rugs and a fine collection of photography.

Of special interest to most people was the exhibit of Oliver Jackson, which included a family Bible of the year 1800 and a sampler of 1733; a quilt made in the year of confederation and an original Van Gogh painting of the earliest draw-bridge.

Division 5, a fine collection of woodwork.

Division 6, Teenages. Of special mention was a machine made dress and blouse, a fine collection of leathercraft, home cooking, canning and candy.

Division 7, Children's section, ages 6 to 9. Picture making, toys, birdhouses, hats for a party. Outstanding were the necklaces made from nuts, seeds and shells. Ages 10 to 13: Included in this section were embroidery articles from wood, dressed dolls and articles using a box as beginning.

Division 8, Flowers which made a fine show, bowls for table centres and baskets of cut flowers which were outstanding. Also a large variety of household plants.

Division 9, Fruit. In spite of the late season there was a good showing. Of special mention were centre-pieces of fruit and nuts.

Division 10, Vegetables. There were fewer entries in this section owing to weather conditions. The Rutland Future Farmers had a fine exhibit of fruit and vegetables.

MANY EXCELLENT DISPLAYS
Other displays of interest were a popular fertilizer, the Kelowna Sawmill, Kelowna Industrial Supply and Bells and Anderson.

During the day refreshments were served to a large number of people, apple juice, soft drinks, hamburgers and roasted corn.

GROWING with B.C.

We very rarely stop to look back—much too busy planning for the future and making shopping even better at Super-Valu. But just the other day we were wondering what happened to those people who let us couldn't last. They didn't realize that success always comes to those who work hard and give the best service they can. Long before this store was opened we knew what we had to do . . . We had to be friendly — courteous — give good service . . . sell at low competitive prices. To the best of our ability we've done this and it will continue.

Packinghouses prepare for handling apple crop which will soon be ready for picking

Harvesting of Bartlett pears is rapidly drawing to a close, and packinghouses throughout the Central Okanagan are preparing for the first lot of McIntosh apples which will be harvested early next week.

Okanagan's apple crop is estimated at 6,500,000 boxes this year, compared with 5,700,000 in 1954.

Provincial department of agriculture reports that apples are continuing to size with the exception of Winesaps. Rain and cool nights are needed, however, to improve coloring.

GOOD ONION CROP

In the north Okanagan, all vegetables are in plentiful supply and growers have now started to harvest the onion crop which is of good quality. Tomatoes have improved and good quality fruit is coming in to the cannery.

In the Kelowna area, Bartlett pear harvest is past the peak; bradshaw pears are over; early Italian pears are ready to pick, while Anjou pears have made good size despite mild damage.

Tomatoes are being harvested for mature and semi-ripe shipments as well as canning. Quality and yields are good. The bean deal and fall onions are over. Spring planted onions are late, with the bulk of the crop not coming off for another week.

In the Summerland-Peachland area the peak of peach and Bartlett pear harvesting has now been reached. The very high temperatures have brought these fruits along quickly towards the last and some Bartletts have not sized too well. Early Italian pears are ripening and regular strains are showing color. McIntosh apples are well sized but are coloring very slowly due to the warm weather.

A good rain and some chilly nights are needed to improve the finish of this crop. The Delicious crop has sized well and is now starting to show some color.

Green and Woolley apple aphids are prevalent in most apple varieties. Green aphids are particularly serious in Winesaps. Although European Red Mite have subsided, Rust Mite and Two Spotted Mite continue to be troublesome on apples and some late spraying has been necessary. Rust Mite are affecting cherries and prunes throughout the district. More Fire Blight is showing up as the season progresses, but the infections are confined to a few orchards and are by no means widespread.

In the Penticton-Okanagan Falls area pears have matured rapidly, but unevenly in the past week. They have also sized unevenly, with a fair proportion running to small sizes, and have dropped extensively in some orchards. V. peaches are also inclined to run to small sizes. The bulk of the pears and a substantial tonnage of peaches from strike-bound houses are being diverted to canneries. Prune crop prospects have not improved, and a heavy drop continues. Except for some orchards in the Keremeos area, McIntosh apples have sized well. They are beginning to take on color, but it is felt that some change in present weather conditions is necessary to develop this color. It is expected that McIntosh will not be ready in the Penticton area until the third week in September.

Increased codling moth and two-spot mite activity has been recently detected in a few orchards, while aphid infestations have begun to taper off.

Musician, A. C. Guild, passes away

In failing health for several months, Alexander Campbell Guild, a musician, band leader, orchestra conductor and teacher of music all his life, died in Kelowna General Hospital Monday evening.

Best-remembered by hundreds of Kelowna residents as an orchestra and band leader here during the 1930's and early 40's, the late Mr. Guild resided at 1705 Richter St. Scottish-born and raised, he showed a flair for music right from his earliest boyhood and as early as the age of 17, he conducted a 40-piece orchestra. He could play a number of instruments well and his services as a teacher were much in demand, not only in the Old Country, but in Moose Jaw, Sask., where he first settled upon coming to Canada, and in Kelowna and at Vancouver. Among his pupils in Scotland were members of the nobility.

The late Mr. Guild first came to Kelowna in 1929 and for a number of years he conducted orchestra concerts in the Empress Theatre. As leader of the Kelowna Boys Band in the 30's, he was credited with bringing this young group of promising musicians before the public and training them to a high degree of excellence.

REGIMENTAL BANDMASTER
During World War I he was bandmaster of the 11th Irish Fusiliers Regiment at Vancouver and he staged all the concerts in the park there. As a token of gratitude for his many concerts in Vancouver, he was given the honor to lead the first Armistice parade in Vancouver at the head of the Irish Fusiliers Band. Music was his first love, and he never gave up trying to learn more and improve himself. Even when he returned to Kelowna a little over two years ago after 11 years at Vancouver and Port Langley, he still continued teaching music on a reduced scale.

The late Mr. Guild is survived by his wife, Ellen; and four daughters and one son: Miss Stella Guild, Victoria; Mrs. T. D. (Viola) Farley, Summit City, Calif.; Mrs. B. (Ethel) Vincent, Victoria; Mrs. W. (Dorothy) Basaraba, New Westminster.

Sportsmen mourn passing of D. Grimston

Death of D. G. Grimston of New Westminster last night, after a prolonged illness, marks a loss to amateur hockey circles in Canada, and especially in B.C., where he served as president of the BCAHA for five years. He had many friends in Kelowna. Mr. Grimston was also president of the CAHA during 1950-51-52 season's, and was instrumental in obtaining the present franchise of the New Westminster Royals.

Due to the fact that a large number of the delegates scheduled to attend the annual meeting of the BCAHA in Kelowna this Friday, Saturday and Sunday will be attending Mr. Grimston's funeral, there is a possibility the meeting may be postponed, but no definite word has been received.

Dr. Mel Butler, president of the BCAHA, and a personal friend of Mr. Grimston's, will be among those attending the funeral, which will be held in New Westminster.

TAKES COURSE ... Mrs. William Sass, Glenn Ave., returned last Saturday from Victoria where she took further study in highland dancing from Mrs. Adeline Duncan, noted authority on Scottish dancing.

and Roy of Chilliwack. He also leaves nine grandchildren, two great grandchildren and a sister in New Zealand and another sister in Scotland.

Elder R. A. Hubley of Penticton conducted the final rites of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church this afternoon at the Chapel of Kelowna Funeral Directors. Interment followed in the Kelowna cemetery.

Pallbearers were: James Vint, Sr., William Murray, J. N. McFarlane, Robert Koyanagi, Edward Gabel and V. Sakala.

Mrs. R. Flower new Elementary PTA president

Kelowna Elementary P.T.A. held its first executive meeting of the fall term last Friday and Mrs. R. E. Flower was appointed the new president to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. H. E. Bedell.

The group laid plans for the annual fall tea in the elementary school, which will be held in the DeHart Primary, the Raymer Ave.

the Graham Street and the Martin Avenue schools on Wednesday afternoon, September 21, and in the Glenn Avenue school on September 28. The date for the tea at the Central Elementary School is pending.

Regular monthly meetings of the Kelowna Elementary P.T.A. are held on the first Tuesdays of every month in the library of the Junior High School. The first meeting this fall will be on October 4 at 8:00 p.m. when all parents of elementary school children are invited to attend and meet the new elementary school principal, G. C. Bissell, and the members of his staff. At this meeting, Mr. Bissell will welcome any questions the parents have concerning the new school term.

OVERCAME HANDICAP.
Lord Nelson, the great British admiral, never enjoyed good health but overcame the handicap with defiant willpower.

TRADE LICENCES
City intends to clamp down on peddlers and agents who operate without a trade licence. It came to the attention that two individuals sold articles at the Rotary Fall Fair without taking out licences. Mayor J. J. Ladd also indicated that organizations will have to make formal application in order to operate a P.A. system on the streets.

It's a woman's world, says Margaret Birtch, 14, as she proudly holds "Power" her reserve champion steer at the 4-H Club judging of the prize stock shown in connection with the Kelowna Rotary Home Show and Fall Fair at the Memorial Arena.

Beside her, and even prouder, is Gerald Geen, 18, of Ellison, with "Sandy" the grand champion. Sandy also placed first in the fat steer contest, and Power second.

That's Dennis Powell of Okanagan Mission, on the left, holding another one of Gerald Geen's entries, a winner in the open single class. Beside him is Gary Stone of Kelowna, 17, third place winner in the Future Farmers' class.

On September 15, the new Health Unit at Keremeos, in which the Red Cross will have quarters, will be opened with Mrs. Mawer taking part in the ceremony. On September 21 North Vancouver Island branches including Alberni, Alert Bay, Bamfield, Campbell River, Chemainus, Comox, Cowichan, Cumberland, Ladysmith, Mount Arrowsmith, Nanaimo and Youbou will hold their regional meeting at Parksville.

East and West Kootenay branches will combine on September 24 to attend a Red Cross Workshop at Creston with attendance expected from Cranbrook, Creston, Fernie, Field, Kimberley, Windermere, Grand Forks, Nelson, Rossland and Trail. On October 21 the Okanagan region including branches at Armstrong, Enderby, Kelowna, Keremeos-Cawston, Naramata, Oliver, Osoyoos, Peachland, Salmon Arm, Summerland, Vernon and Penticton will hold their regional conference at Keremeos.

Request to postpone the opening of local schools for one week because of the lack of bean pickers was turned down by the board of trustees at a regular meeting held last Thursday evening.

While the board sympathized with the B.C. Interior Vegetable Marketing Board, they could not con- cede to their request since the closing of schools is entirely in the hands of the provincial department of education.

“Educational tours”

Families of mill employees are escorted through huge plant of S. M. Simpson Ltd.

By TOM MEWBURN

“Educational tours” are currently being conducted at the S. M. Simpson Ltd. mill.

The mill management started the tours in order that families of employees would have a greater insight into the operation of the lumber business. Simpsons is the largest mill in the B.C. interior, and I accepted the invitation and joined scores of people who were escorted through the plant.

Here I got a first hand look of the huge operation. Saw logs being carried up a conveyor system from the sorting pond where they start the long way through the mill.

It's fascinating to watch this operation. Logs are rolled off the travelling chain and the huge teeth come up from below the rack on which it rests. In this instance, the log is shoved into the saw carriage where sharp claws hold it in place as it moves back and forth removing the bark and squaring the log.

The man who does this, is head-sawyer, Dick Manon, who controls the whole operation through a system of levers.

Riding the saw-carriage and controlling its movements is Pete Wenginger. It made me dizzy watching that carriage travel. Back and forth; back and forth it travels like the shuttle in a sewing machine, which weighs a fraction of an ounce, while the carriage and the log is carries, weighs sixteen tons.

BAND SAW

The next stage on the line is the gang saw, which Dave Lawson controls. This is where the real sawing comes in. Six band saws make six cuts simultaneously and from the squared timber six husky planks are placed on a travelling bed, to one side of the saws. Here any defective pieces of material are dropped through the floor, to be banded as waste, which is not waste to the operators of the mill, for, with the sawdust accumulating from various sawing operations, it is used to fire the boilers.

From the gang saws, the planks are moved sideways to the edging machine where the rough edges of the material are removed by Jack Strong and John Dollman.

From the edging machine the planks go to the grading table. Here the long planks pass from left to right before the grader on a travelling table. The grader operator when we went through the plant was Abe Klassen. He squints at a plank, marks the grade as it goes by.

The next step in the process is where the cut and sawn boards or planks are moved to the piling shed. Here two men place strips of wood between the layers of planks, building up a pile 6'4" across and four feet deep. Each pile having ventilating space between each layer, when one pile is completed a Ross carrier picks it up and whisks it away to either the drying yard or the drying kiln, depending on the variety and quality of the wood.

DRYING KILN

The drying kiln is a tremendous building in itself, holding at one charge, 240,000 board feet. The lumber in the kiln is subject to a maximum heat of 180 degrees and is left in the kiln for seventy hours. The material that goes to the drying yard, may take two months in the curing, depending largely on the weather.

Hugh Scouler handles this end of production. The heat is intense, particularly on a warm day. Now back to the head rig. Some of the logs coming up from the “chuck” below, are diverted to the veneer operation. This takes the bark off the logs and they are rolled against knives producing a shaving five feet wide and 1/8 to 1/4 inches in thickness. This material comes off the machine in long strips and from it are made the lids for logs or boxes that contain fruit.

Another operation and a separate unit is the box factory, where fruit containers of every description are fabricated, and the names of the various packinghouse and shippers are printed on the packages.

In the box factory the material is fed into the machines by hand, while in the saw mill the whole process is carried out without the touch of human hands. In the former the operators have it down to a science and there are no waste movements.

All this machinery in the mill proper, requires an enormous amount of power which is generated by three turbines. One develops 2,700 h.p. and the other two, 1,000 and 700 h.p. respectively, are used as “standbys” in case of emergency or a breakdown.

These turbines are fed with steam from four huge furnaces, and they in turn use the waste from the saw mill and box factory.

Superintendent of production for the whole plant is Vic Gregory and one marvels at the system that permits one man to supervise the control after going through the mill, one of a plant of this size.

Fred Martin, personnel manager, who conducted us over the plant, had all the answers to the hundreds and one questions we asked.

New weather record set

The month of August was a record-breaking drought period, for the Okanagan, with Kelowna registering the lowest precipitation in the history of weather records, which date back to 1899.

Only three days in the month saw any precipitation, and the total was only .04 inches, with the closest to that being .09 in 1952.

Joe Rich Canyon saw traces of rain on two occasions, with .11 being the month's total.

The average heat in Kelowna for the month was 82.64, the hottest day being 92. The Regatta days were maximums of 87, 91, 74 and 80. Joe Rich's hottest day was 87.

Prominent Ellison farmer, William Bulman is selected "Grassman of the year"

"Grassman of the Year" in the government sponsored Nicola Valley-North Okanagan Green Pastures Program is beef cattleman William Bulman of Ellison.

This was announced during the program's second annual grass field day held last week. Running a close second in the contest was Clarence Bryson of Merritt.

Pastures over the wide area extending from Merritt, Princeton, Kamloops, the Okanagan and Salmon Arm districts were considered in the competition.

Entry forms were sent out June 1 with final qualifying date being June 30, and judging was done by Norman Putnam, field crop commissioner for B.C.; William Hubbard of the Federal Range experimental station at Kamloops, and G. Cruikshank, district agriculturist for Chilliwack.

Deputy minister of agriculture William MacGillivray presented Mr. Bulman with a silver-plated tray "as a trophy for the distinction of being Grassman over this very wide area."

The point scoring in detail was as follows: Mr. Bulman, 134 points; Beefman Clarence Bryson, 133.5; dairy farmer Don McEwan, 133; Grindrod 131; dairy farmer Duffy Bryson of Hefley Creek, brother of Clarence, 127; dairyman Jack Thompson of Princeton 126.5; dairyman Ivan Wright of Salmon River 124; dairyman Rusty Freeze of Armstrong, 122; J. Ketchen of Salmon Arm 121.5; sheepman Michael Freeman of Lavington 121.5; Reg Saunders of Lumby, 118.

The tour was arranged under the direction of G. A. Luyat, supervising district agriculturist at Kamloops and the M.C. for the day was the well known agriculturist Tom Willis, superintendent of the Kamloops range experimental station.

McEWAN FARM VISITED
The tour got underway on the neat little farm of Don McEwan at Grindrod. Don, who has one of the prettiest herds of Jerseys in the Okanagan, started growing improved pastures in 1947. Now this progressive young farmer has forty-seven animals that graze on 18 acres of the finest grass legume sward.

Don pretty well follows the standard Green Pasture recommendations. His orchard grass, brome, alta fescue, ladino clover pastures are sprinkler irrigated and go through an 18-24 day rotation. His docile herd of Jersey cows are retained in their allotted pasture with an electric fence. Don fertilizes with 250 lbs. of superphosphate in the fall and 100 lbs. of ammonium nitrate in the summer annually. Don is most enthusiastic about his loafing shed and milking parlor which he attributes to maintaining his high production and average of 5.5% butterfat. He claims also that heated drinking water for his animals and silage as winter feed aid tremendously as well.

FREEMAN SHEEP FARM
The farm of Mike Freeman of Lavington was visited next. Mike, a former orchardist, was forced into pasture production after his fruit trees were frost killed. He chose sheep and started off with a hundred head on eleven acres. He now runs three hundred ewes and lambs on about thirty-four acres. Mike feels that murex is the backbone for pasture production and adds it copiously in late November. He has been experimenting with use of anhydrous ammonia and finds that 70-80 lbs. applied in summer is very effective. Mike feels that shade is important for sheep and uses what is left of his orchard for grazing but says that great care must be exercised to prevent browsing on the trees.

The tour was then met on the Coldstream Ranch by Bill Osborne, manager. After box lunches and coffee were consumed the guest speaker, W. MacGillivray, deputy minister of agriculture, paid tribute to the three agencies working toward the betterment of agriculture in B.C. He claimed that it was nothing short of wonderful that Canada Experimental Farms Service, the Provincial Agricultural Extension Service and the Veterans Land Act could work in such close harmony to the betterment of agriculture. He brought out that even as industry in B.C. was forging rapidly ahead our farming methods through the help of the agencies mentioned have kept pace with rising costs and increased population to meet the demands of our stream-lined economy.

Mr. MacGillivray told his audience that livestock is the basis of sound and practical agriculture and that it requires a knowledge of soils, climate and economic conditions to maintain maximum production. He indicated that we are now only on the threshold with regard to improvement of pastures and that many phases have yet to be worked upon but he is confident that with such wholehearted co-operation and support grassland agriculture will continue to thrive in B.C.

PASTURE JUDGING
Mr. Luyat told the group that the Green Pastures Program has been active for three years and has for the past two years chosen a farmer growing the best over-all pasture as Grassman of the Year. He explained that Green Pasture clubs had been formed and judged locally and local winners chosen. This was the case when a Salmon Arm man was recently chosen winner of the Noca competition. This year entries were received from all districts of central B.C. with a good representation of different types of pastures.

BULMAN NAMED GRASSMAN
As chairman of the Green Pastures Committee, Mr. Luyat opened a sealed envelope given to him by the judges and announced that Bill Bulman of Kelowna grew the best pastures and was named official Grassman of the Year. His is a beef feeding operation. A close second was Clarence Bryson of Merritt, also a beef producer. Third was Don McEwan, a dairyman from Grindrod.

BULMAN RANCH VISITED
The tour proceeded to the Bulman ranch to view the pastures grown by the Grassman of the Year. Mr. Bulman used the standard 14 day rotation and finds greater use and less bloat hazard than the standard 21 day rotation. He manages to graze 2.7 head per acre for a gain of up to 1.7 lbs. per head per day or up to 700 lbs. per acre.

The winner is not a new comer to agriculture but is operating the old family establishment which was started in 1911. The farm has had a varied history through apple orchard to grain, vegetable farm and now beef factory. It has now reached its most stable and productive state. Our grassman demonstrated his silage making equipment. He puts up over a thousand tons which he claims to be the best winter feed available.

WINFIELD church will introduce family services
WINFIELD—St. Margaret's Anglican Church at Winfield plans to introduce a new feature in its parish worship.

A "Family Service" will be held this Sunday, September 18, at 11 a.m. and every third Sunday of each month thereafter.

Although all the services of the Church are intended for family worship it is hoped that this plan will encourage families to come to Church together.

Due to the fact that Sunday School opening was postponed until this date registration of pupils will take place after the 11 o'clock service. There will be no 10 o'clock Sunday School on this third Sunday of the month. On the other Sundays of the month Sunday School will be at 10 a.m.

Other services held at St. Margaret's are the parish communion at 9:30 a.m. on the first Sunday of each month and evensong at 7:30 on the second Sunday. On the fourth Sunday evensong is held at 7:30 p.m. in the United Church at Okanagan Centre unless otherwise announced.

ON THE RIGHT TRACK
Ever hear of wooden streetcar tracks? Well they had 'em in Salem, Oregon, years and years ago, according to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association. In fact, workmen digging a water main ditch in Salem recently unearthed a stretch of wooden streetcar tracks which hadn't been used in 40 years. The men said the tracks were still in excellent condition.

There are about 33,000 swimming pools in the United States, half of them private, compared to 8,000 at the end of World War II, most of them public.

The Victoria merry-go-round

By JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA — When M.L.A.'s next come to this capital for a legislative session, they'll find a smiling, boyish Prince Charming who had the world at his feet. He was here again in 1923 and 1927.

His two brothers, the Duke of Kent and the Duke of Gloucester also have stayed at Government House.

In 1909 the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, later King George V and Queen Mary visited Victoria. Cary Castle had burned, and the Lieut-governor, Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere was living in a mansion not far from the ruined castle, later the home of the David Spencer family and now the Art Centre. The Royal visitors stayed at the old Mount Baker Hotel on the Oak Bay waterfront and one evening drove by carriage into town for a brilliant dinner with the L.G. at the temporary G.H.

The new chateleine of Government House is 51, born in Rossland, a U.B.C. graduate, who has studied also at Columbia in New York, the Sorbonne in Paris, the London School of Economics. She was married in 1928 to Leonard Turner, who died in 1932, leaving her with two children. The young went to work. From 1934 to 1939 she was chief research economist with the Canadian tariff board; from 1939 to 1941 economic adviser to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and from 1941 to 1945 Federal government administrator of fats and oils. It was during this period she met Frank McKenzie Ross, 13 years her senior, and also doing war work in Ottawa.

The wealthy, influential industrialist and the brilliant young widow were married in 1945. They have a mansion in Vancouver, a 500-acre seaside farm near fashionable St. Andrews, in New Brunswick and a 250-acre ranch at Cloverdale, on the lower mainland.

The new Lieut-governor and his wife will immediately plunge into a busy round of G.H. Their first visitor will be H.R.H. the Princess Royal, daughter of King George V, sister of King Edward VIII and King George VI and aunt of Queen Elizabeth II. She is coming here on an official visit to the regiment of which she is colonel-in-chief, the famed Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's).

Many British royalties through the years have stayed at Government House, chief among them: King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, in 1939 and the Queen, as Princess Elizabeth, and the Duke of Edinburgh, in 1951.

FIRST ROYAL VISITOR
The first Royal visitor to Victoria was the Princess Louise, daughter of Queen Victoria, and wife of the Governor-General of Canada, the Marquis of Lorne. They were here 75 years ago, when Government House was Cary Castle, on the same site as the G.H. of today. Cary Castle was burned to the ground in 1899. Lieut-governor McInnes barely escaping with his life.

Another of Queen Victoria's family, her son, the Duke of Connaught came here twice, in 1890, and in 1912, when he was Governor-general. On the latter visit he laid the cornerstone of the Provincial Archives and Library wing of the Legislative Buildings.

The most popular of all Royal visitors to Victoria was the Duke of Windsor, when he was Prince of

Nerve Weakness

How common is it among men and women over a certain age?

Nerve Weakness—Nervous Exhaustion. There are many words for it, including the Greek word Neurasthenia, meaning Nerve Weakness—a term often used to describe a condition that can affect many people over forty. After that age, you may complain of being easily tired. You feel "all in," irritable, moody, poor appetite. At such times, many people wisely turn to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for dependable help.

How long should you take Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?

It may have taken months for your body to become "run-down," sending distress signals many people call "nerves." Although Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helps to build up nerve energy quickly, for best results you should take Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for at least 6 weeks. This gives your body a chance to get the full benefit of the iron, Vitamin B-1 and other valuable medical ingredients in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

At the end of 6 weeks you must be able to say to yourself: "I feel like a new person." . . . or we'll refund every penny you paid. Why not get started today?

Scenic-cruiser has trouble boarding ferry

"And they say we don't need a bridge," remarked one Board of Trade official after witnessing the difficulty this huge scenic-cruiser had in boarding the Kelowna-Westside ferry. Special planking had to be laid across ferry ramp before vehicle could drive off vessel.

"I'll be back"

Joan McKinley will enter California synchronized swimming championships

Her tone was wistful, when she said: "If there were an indoor swimming pool in town, I would be back here tomorrow."

Because blonde, curvaceous, synchronized swimmer Joan McKinley is a Kelowna girl at heart, and she wants nothing better than to stay right here, but her chosen profession of swimming is too curtailed in season with the present lack of an indoor pool.

As the answer to the lack of pool, Joan chose to go to Los Angeles, where she trains under famous Billie McKellar, the swimming coach who is fast becoming a fixture at Kelowna Regattas.

This year, the pretty water belle hopes to take part in the California synchronized swimming championships, which take place in February or March of each year. She was unable to enter last year, due to an entry restriction which demands four months residence.

Her performance in the amateur meet will have a lot to do with her future, but her plans definitely include turning professional when her amateur achievements have reached a mark that warrants such a move.

PERSONAL TOUCH

Once in the professional ranks, she will earn her living from such engagements as she can find bookings for, supplemented by teaching.

"I would rather teach in Canada, though, and of course, that means Kelowna to me," Joan volunteered. "I like the personal touch, and the feeling of knowing the kids personally that you teach."

For Joan is essentially a Kelowna girl, and finds the big city too impersonal for her. When she first arrived in Los Angeles, she used to spend hours patrolling Hollywood Boulevard, disapproving to herself the fallacy that if you spend enough time on the corner of Hollywood and Vine, you will see somebody you know pass by.

Joan did receive a pleasant shock, though, on one of her strolls along Hollywood Boulevard, when she saw the backs of two heads that looked familiar to her. Investigation showed the recognized heads to belong to Mr. and Mrs. Dick Stewart of the Kelowna Nurseries. This was the only time that this happened to Joan, however.

HAS OWN APARTMENT

In Hollywood, Miss McKinley has an apartment, which she will share with Jane Stirling, also of Kelowna, when she goes back this year.

She is a regular home-girl, doing her own cooking, and taking care of herself in general. She doesn't find Hollywood expensive, but readily agrees it is because she is not striving to be one of the class who do spend with abandon.

"I guess I was brought up in the right place, and know how to shop for what I want," she said.

Her apartment is within bussing distance of the Hollywood Athletic Club, where she trains, but in the main, transportation is a costly item on the budget, she said.

Watching TV is a favorite past time with her, as well as the newly-acquired sport of skin diving. Whenever possible, Joan likes to travel, also, and made one trip to Tia Juana, Mexico.

As far as TV for Kelowna, Joan doesn't think it would be a good thing for kids, since it might keep them away from the healthier outdoor sports that are in abundance and readily accessible in the Orchard City, but heartily endorses it for the big city, where it keeps the kids off the street.

BACK NEXT YEAR

"You bet I'll be back for the next Regatta," she said, enthusiastically. "I couldn't stay away."

Joan has a slight limp, souvenir of a fall she took through a hole in a stage on the last night of the Regatta, but has the cast off now, and will be fit as a fiddle by the time the championship meets start in California next spring.

Miss Mary Pack, founder of Canadian Arthritis, Rheumatism Society outlines steady growth since organization formed

Miss Mary Pack, founder of Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, and executive secretary of the B.C. division, presented the facts concerning CARS in a simply, down to earth manner, that instilled her audience with the determination that they must do more toward helping in this worthy cause that has reclaimed lives for the community.

W. O. Clark, in introducing the speaker, paid tribute to her for her great accomplishments on behalf of CARS.

"Through trial and difficulty, she fought tooth and nail to get CARS where it is today," he stated. "For her painstaking efforts on behalf of the sick and suffering, Miss Pack was awarded the Queen's Medal by Queen Elizabeth in the year of her coronation."

HELPED FROM BEGINNING

Miss Pack graciously transferred the praise given her to the people of B.C. whom she said, through their grit and determination and the support of the doctors, have made CARS what it is today. She recalled two instances where local citizens had shown their interest and given their support in the early beginnings of CARS.

While holidaying in the Gulf Islands, Miss Pack met Mrs. Jack Bevis with whom she discussed the work of her organization. When Mrs. Bevis left, Miss Pack found an envelope on her dresser containing a $10 bill with the accompanying note, "For your arthritic patients; keep it going!" This was the first monetary contribution received by CARS.

The late Mr. J. W. B. Browne on behalf of the society presented a series of broadcasts over the local radio station to promote CARS, and when the local branch first organized with its half dozen charter members, the group met at CKOV.

The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society has spread over all of Canada except Prince Edward Island and New Foundland. Treatment is given patients in their homes by the mobile unit, at treatment centres throughout the province, or if necessary in the treatment and rehabilitation centre in Vancouver. Drugs, diagnosis, tests are available to patients who pay for the treatment according to their means but no patient is turned away because of lack of funds. Literature is provided for the public and special lectures are offered to medical doctors, the next series to be given at UBC in March. Research is continually going on and the public must be kept up to date on what is being done.

More harm is done through ignorance, she said. CARS must try to tell people what is the right thing to do to prevent crippling. American Rheumatism Society has made two films for this purpose but their efforts are far behind CARS. Just recently the services of Dr. R. W. Lamont-Havers, director of C.A.R.S. in B.C., have been successfully turned away by the United States.

SEEKING CURE

People who are seeking help must be shown what can be done before it is too late and they are beyond help. There are numerous treatments flaunted before the eyes of the public and many superstitions are still prevalent but the truth is that there is no cure for arthritis but CARS is seeking a cure. Miss Pack stated. The society has the backing of the B.C. Medical Association and in each centre is a corresponding member to whom information regarding new treatment and methods is relayed. CARS has treated over 9,000 patients in B.C.

Miss Pack explained that there are over 100 different types of arthritis and rheumatism and there is no medicine or treatment that will cure all. CARS endeavours to give back to its patients their strength and helps them to develop their muscles so that they can walk and even work again. Ninety percent of the victims of arthritis and rheumatism can be helped.

REHABILITATION IMPORTANT
Citing an example of a 23 year old man who was stricken with rheumatoid arthritis just at a time when his trucking business was booming ahead, and his new home was almost finished, Miss Pack showed how patients can be rehabilitated even though they may not do strenuous work again. This young man had lost his business, his truck, and almost lost his wife and home when he came to CARS for help. It took months to relieve his condition and when it was certain that he could never be a truck driver again, he began to study in his leisure hours during his treatment period and when he was able to be up and around again he became a X-ray technician in one of the large hospitals.

B.C. now has a trained physiotherapist in all centres of 9,000 population or over. The less travelling they have to do the more treatments they can get and so volunteer drivers are sought to bring patients to the clinic which is held every afternoon in Kelowna General Hospital. Patients have been helped psychologically by members of CARS visiting committee, who cheer them up at home and taken them out for drives and to parties.

The arts and crafts classes recently started help to develop muscles and to give the patients some diversion. Volunteer workers take patients to and from classes and assist them with their projects. In Kelowna Mrs. O. Jennings convenes this effort.

Only 5.1% of the cost of keeping CARS in operation is contributed by the patients. Provincial grants cover 33.3 per cent and federal grants 6.4 per cent. From Community Chest 39.6 per cent is received and about 4.4 per cent is received from requests; special donations cover 4.9 per cent and operating 6.3 per cent. Of the individual contributions received 85 per cent is made up of amounts under $50.

Following Miss Pack's lecture and her presentation of a series of slides depicting various patients who have been treated by CARS, Mr. Clark urged those present to remember Community Chest and to support liberally especially since CARS is one of the participating agencies. Last year $3,000 was received by CARS and $2401 was raised through canvassing outlying districts not covered by the Chest.

While at the present only the University of Toronto offers a course in physiotherapy it is expected that shortly a similar course will be offered in B.C.

WELL-TRAINED
EDMONTON (CP)—When Genevieve Arguehau recently went to look after three children while their mother was in hospital she found a "housekeeper's paradise." Before leaving for school the older boys, aged 13 and 8, outlined the home routine and washed up. The youngest, 6, showed her how to save two minutes in making a bed.

Graduates

Miss Barbara Joan Guy, of 2415 Penduzi Street, who graduated recently as a Trans-Canada Air Lines stewardess following an intensive five week course in Montreal, Miss Guy was born in Kimberley, B.C., and educated in Nelson. She graduated as a nurse in June, 1951 from the Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria. After working at the Royal Jubilee and Penitentiary General Hospital, Miss Guy joined TCA July 27. Miss Guy is now based at Vancouver.

Coast-Okanagan share interest in wedding

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Vancouver on Tuesday, September 6, at 4:30 p.m. in Chalmers United Church, when Dr. A. K. McMin united in marriage Mary Beatrice, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hawes, Glenn Ave., Kelowna, and Mr. Henry (Hank) S. Brody, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brody, Burnaby, B.C.

The bride wore an aqua blue dressmaker suit with pink accessories and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and rose buds. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Gwen Godfrey, Quesnel, B.C. who wore mauve with yellow accessories, and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies and mauve carnations.

Albert Brody, West Vancouver, was his brother's groomsmen. A family reception was held at the "Aqua Room" where her uncle, Dr. Gilbert Gordon, Vancouver, proposed the toast to the bride. Later the couple left by car for a honeymoon in Seattle and points south. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Brody will reside in Vancouver.

Engagement announced

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Perry, R.R. 3, announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, June Aileen, to Mr. Barrie Albert Toms, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Toms, Calgary, Alberta.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, October 1, in St. Mary's Anglican Church, East Kelowna.

Women's Institute branch hears U.N. report

Mrs. J. Andrews, chairman of the United Nations committee, gave a brief resume of recent happenings in the United Nations assembly, when the Kelowna Women's Institute met recently for their first fall meeting. Seventeen members and ten visitors were present.

She reported that 72 countries were represented when the general assembly met recently in Geneva to discuss the peaceful uses of atomic energy. An outstanding scientist, Dr. Libby, reported the meeting a success. Over 50,000 persons inspected an atomic reactor and among the papers presented by the various countries, Canada's contribution was described as most fascinating.

She remarked that isotopes are to be greatly increased because of their benefit to medicine and biology studies. Radiation is to be studied further and scientists believe that it will be years before all the information revealed at the Geneva meeting can be digested and used for peaceful purposes. Tribute was paid to the late Albert Einstein who fifty years ago led the way toward this great discovery and at the same time warned the world that atomic energy must not be used to destroy.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

During the business session it was announced that the winner of the 1955 home economics scholarship presented by the Women's Institute of this province was awarded to Edwina Aten, of Salmon Arm, who is a senior matriculation student. She has been active in sports, played in the school band, and has exhibited for the 4-H club.

First bursary in agriculture given by the B.C. Women's Institutes is being given to Thomas Windt, Jr., of Quesnel. He is beginning his third year in agriculture at UBC.

Guest speaker of the evening was Mrs. J. W. Hughes who gave an interesting slide lecture on her trip this summer to the United States and the Bahamas.

Mrs. J. Linder, following the meeting, served refreshments to the ladies.

Baking's Easier, Speedier with Wonderful New Active Dry Yeast!

CINNAMON BUNS

Measure into large bowl, 1 c. lukewarm water, 2 tps. granulated sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 2 envelopes Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 min. THEN stir well. Scald 1 c. milk and stir in 1/2 c. granulated sugar, 1/4 tsp. salt, 1/2 c. shortening; cool to lukewarm. Add to yeast mixture and stir in 2 well-beaten eggs. Stir in 3 c. once-sifted bread flour; beat until smooth. Work in 3 c. more once-sifted bread flour. Knead until smooth and elastic; place in greased bowl; brush top with melted butter or shortening. Cover and set in warm place, free from draught. Let rise until doubled in bulk. While dough is rising, combine 1/2 c. brown sugar (lightly pressed down), 1 tsp. ground cinnamon, 1 c. washed and dried seedless raisins. Punch down dough and divide into 2 equal portions; form into smooth balls. Roll each piece into an oblong 1/4" thick and 16" long; loosen dough, brush with melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle with raisin mixture. Beginning at a long edge, roll up each piece loosely, like a jelly roll. Cut into 1" slices. New relief map of Canada now available

A big, new, relief map of Canada for offices, homes and schools was published recently by Canadian Aero Service Limited, Ottawa. It shows all Canada in three dimensions. Leading educators and business men who previewed the map hailed the relief presentation as far more meaningful and interesting than ordinary flat maps.

Forty-nine by 45 inches in size, the map is printed in eight vivid, naturalistic colors on heavy Vinyl plastic. Then it is formed under heat and pressure to depict mountains, valleys and drainage patterns in clear relief. Mr. Logan, for example, rises nearly an inch from the map. The surface is plastic coated so fingerprints or marking will not damage it.

Scale of the map is 1 inch equals 75 miles. Its vertical exaggeration, to emphasize relief features, is 20 to 1. Weight of the map is only two pounds, compared with over 200 pounds for conventional plaster relief models of comparable size.

This new plastic relief model combines in one map the information usually shown on three maps: land forms, land use information, and over 3,000 place names—highways, railroads, aerodromes, parks, and similar facts. Much new information is included: new data on land use; new facts about the Canadian Arctic shorelines and new settlements there; corrected positions for certain island groups in the Far North.

Canadian Aero Service Limited was aided by the Department of Mines and Technical Resources, which provided important source data. Assistance was given also by the office of the Surveyor General and by the Army Survey Establishment.

The map may be marked with a wax crayon or china marking pencil without damage to the surface, and markings, dust or fingerprints wipe off the coated map easily.

FIRST AVAILABLE
This is the first plastic relief map ever made of the entire country and combines in one map the information usually shown on three maps. It shows land forms, land use, and over 3,000 geographical names. It is based on much new information, from governmental and other sources.

Typical of the map's coverage is its correct depiction of shoreline changes in the Canadian Arctic. In older maps, Prince Patrick Island, for example, is shown as much as 50 miles out of its true position. Banks Island's position was in error by 20 miles. Thanks to new and authoritative data from government sources, these island positions are correct on this map, which has paid particular attention to depicting Arctic geography, which is becoming more and more important economically and strategically. The map shows new communities in the Arctic, such as Alexandra, Foul Bay, Ellesmere Island, a new settlement 1,000 miles from the North Pole and 2,400 miles from Ottawa. Dundas Harbour, a Devon Island settlement, and Wager Bay in the Keeweenaw District are not shown since both communities were abandoned recently. Glaciers and permanent polar ice are shown.

You'll find the newly named Queen Elizabeth Islands on the map too. This is the island group north of Viscount Melville and Lancaster Sounds including Ellesmere, Devon, Bathurst, Milville, Prince Patrick,

You can see and feel the mountains and valleys on this unique new map of all Canada, which will be seen in many schoolrooms and offices this fall. First plastic relief map of Canada ever made. It shows land forms in vivid three dimension and eight colors indicate land use. Total of 3,000 place names are shown. Map scale is 1 inch equals 75 miles. Its size is 45 by 49 inches, and it weighs only two pounds. It was published jointly by two affiliated mapping organizations, Canadian Aero Service Limited and Spartan Air Services Limited, Ottawa.

Ellet Ringes and Axel Heiberg Islands. The map extends from Cape Columbia, near the 84th parallel, to Pelee Island, southeast of Windsor, in Lake Erie, the most southerly point in Canada.

The map's 3,000 names includes 1,500 place names, about 1,000 names of streams, lakes and other water bodies, plus about 500 points, capes, islands and peninsulas, as well as mountain ranges and peaks. All water courses and watersheds known to early explorers are clearly shown in relief. Over 300 "spot elevations" are shown, listing mountain heights and other terrain elevations on the map. Mr. Logan, in the Yukon Territories, boasts a height of 19,850 ft.; in the east, the Torngat Mountain Range along the north coast of Labrador shows peaks of 5,500 and 5,200 ft.; and Mt. Jacques Cartier, highest point in the Gaspé, is 4,160 ft. above sea level.

Baffin Island towers to a height of 8,000 ft. Ranges of more local interest and importance, such as the Mill River Ridge in southern Alberta and the Coteau in southwest Saskatchewan, are also clearly represented. Cities and towns in six different population groups are shown and distinctively designated according to size. The groupings are:

Over 300,000
100,000 to 300,000
30,000 to 100,000
10,000 to 30,000
3,000 to 10,000
less than 3,000

The traveller will find aerodromes shown fully—land aerodromes, water aerodromes, and combined facilities. Only emergency fields are not represented, since they change from year to year and often little is known of their operational status. A comprehensive rail network is shown, including all major carriers, and the highway presentation is similarly detailed, showing all elements of the Trans Canada Highway, plus other routes to the Arctic—the Alaska and Mackenzie Highways.

PLACE NAMES
In listing place names, a thorough effort has been made to follow local usage in spelling the names. The color and romance of the Canadian heritage is seen in the variety of these names: Bella Coola, Moosehide, Port Radium, Yellowknife, Fort Qu'Appelle, Fort Chipewyan, Attawapiskat Lake, Pickle Crow, Kanaapuscow, Ste-Agathe-des-Montes, Baie de Gaspé, Cap-de-la-Madeleine, Povungnituk, and a host of others to roll on the tongue and charm the imagination.

Land use information combined with the relief features is especially meaningful. Seven major land use categories are shown: irrigated land, other cultivated land, grazing land, commercial forests, non-commercial and northern boreal transition forest areas, arctic and alpine tundra, and permanent ice and snow.

"Much of the information shown is new—the fruit of new studies by the Geographical Branch and Topographical Division of the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys. Without the aid of this Department and other government sources this map could not have been so complete, so rich in new information, and so accurate," Canadian Aero Service officials say.

"We acknowledge especially the assistance of Colonel E. D. Baldock, Chief of Map Compilation and Reproduction Division and Dr. Norman L. Nicholson, Director of the Geographical Branch, as well as substantial contributions from Aeronautical Chart Section of the Department, from the Office of the Surveyor General, and from the Army Survey Establishment."

More than a year of work went into the preparation of the map and relief mould, according to Canadian Aero Service officials. New information was added constantly, almost up to press time; for example, maps completed in May, 1955 were used for final revisions of certain areas.

Some of the basic map data comes from Sheran-positioned air photos of over 300,000 miles of the Canadian Arctic performed for the Army Survey Establishment by Canadian Aero Service and its affiliate company, Spartan Air Services, Ottawa. Spartan, who flies Canada's largest air survey fleet, was the source also for many thousands of high altitude aerial photos, covering some 1,500,000 miles of Canada, used in other government maps, drawn on, in the compilation of this new map.

Since 1950, when Canadian Aero was founded, it has mapped over 500,000 miles with the airborne magnetometer and other geophysical exploration instruments, speeding the search for oil, iron ore, titanium, asbestos, uranium, and other mineral deposits throughout Canada.

As an illustration, he described a visit to the "skid row" section of Vancouver, where there are many men and women living in poverty. In most cases, these people did not plan to fail; they failed to plan, he said.

Retiring president Percy Priest gave a resume of activities during the past year.

which leads to a Chartered Life Underwriter designation. He urged younger men to take advantage of the course, so they could give their clients the best possible service.

Local Hotspurs lose tough game to Kamloops United Kelowna Hotspurs, fresh from beating the previously undefeated Pentiction Rangers, lost a close, hard-fought soccer game to the Kamloops United Sunday 2-1, in their first home game this season. They now have one win and one loss in the league standing.

In the first half, Kelowna had the best of the play from the opening whistle, causing goalie Eugene Allgaier, formerly from Germany, to work like a Trojan, while Kelowna's Bob Stretch, Reisch had a comparatively easy time of it.

A long boot by center half Bert Klarenbeek had the goal tacked on it, when it bounced out of Allgaier's hands and hit the cross-bar, but it bounced out instead of in. Ernie Fairholm, inside right for Hotspurs, let drive a low, hard boot that goalie Allgaier deflected for a save. A few minutes later, on a corner kick from John Wiebe, Fairholm headed one that almost got by Kamloops' hard-working netminder.

LOW SHOT
At the 22-minute mark, Glen Williams, Kamloops' inside left, managed to split the Kelowna guards, and let drive a low shot that caught the corner of the net for the first score of the game.

Kelowna pressed back harder than ever, with Elmer Brochu's high boot making Allgaier take to the air to save a goal, and the Orchard City boys keeping the play in the Kamloops end.

Fairholm took a short pass from Woods, and slammed it in low, but Allgaier managed to boot it out.

Reisch came out of his goal to handle a hot one by Kamloops' center, Art Chapman, that looked like a sure score.

With a minute to go, center forward Barney Woods snared the ball in front of the goal and evaded Allgaier with a neat hook shot, making the score 1-1 for the first half.

The play picked up in the second half, with Kamloops getting a lot more of the offensive play, and causing goalie Reisch some anxious moments.

SCORES ON SCRAMBLE
Klarenbeek made a very nice flying boot to save a goal when Reisch was down, and it looked like a goal.

With 15 minutes to go in the game, center Chapman for the United took advantage of a scramble in front of the goal, and booted one in over Reisch's prostrate form, giving the northern team the lead and the game, as all Kelowna's efforts to even up were averted.

The biggest percentage of the play in the first half was in the Hotspurs' favor, but they couldn't seem to follow through around the goal. Lomax and Bazana on the guard spot, and the half line of Pollman, Klarenbeek and Clerke kept the ball moving out of the Spurs' defensive zone, and the forwards kept it well in play, just lacking the scoring punch.

In the second half, Kamloops kept Reisch hopping. Lomax moved up to center half, with Dick Bailey taking his place on guard, replaced by Don Dewhurst in the last few minutes of play.

Pollman, Lomax and Klarenbeek, pressed hard, but their forwards were letting the ball get away on them more than they had in the first half, and the United's guards were able to keep the ball moving back up the field.

Peter Pollman looks like he is going to be a valuable asset to the Spurs, as a hard-working, sure-kicking halfback.

Next game will be on Sunday, when Kelowna meet Osoyoos in the City Park Oval, at 2:00 p.m.

Welder romped home in the trophy dash, the third heat and the "A" Main.

SPORTLIGHT

By GEORGE INGLIS

Packers need supporters

One of the eccentricities of the "City of Champions" seems to be lack of fans—whether it is for baseball, soccer, cricket, track, or hockey. Somehow, John Q. Public in the Orchard City seems to think champions are to be bragged about, but not encouraged. . . . My apologies to the five loyal fans who have bought season tickets for this year's senior hockey.

So you had a tough year, did you? Well, name me the city or town that hasn't had a tough year in some sport or another. It doesn't mean that the fans go around wearing crepe on their arms, however. The situation calls for stern measures, for medication, not weak-sister sulking tactics, and there's no one who knows this better than the Packers' executive, those hard-working brickbat-dodging bunch of hockey fans who have taken the torch from failing hands and are trying to keep it alight in spite of the rain of tears from embittered fans.

You haven't heard much from them about players? And for good reason—they have been shopping around trying to get you a team that will show you good hockey, and that is no easy task. They haven't had to get one or two players as the other towns have had to do, they have had to get them in wholesale lots. Try it some time.

You want to see some action? Well, you're in line for it, now that coach Moe Young has returned to the fold from the scouting trip he and Grant Bishop took to the prairies. Things will start humming immediately and you can look for lots of hockey news from here on in.

And starting around the first of October, which looks like the earliest we will have ice, you can wander down to the arena yourself and watch the workouts. You'll be welcomed.

You, the fans are an integral part of the sport, but you just can't build champions without support!

Spurs down Rangers

Even if they don't win another game all season, the Labor Day weekend trouncing of the defending champions, Queen Park Rangers, on their home grounds, by the local Hotspurs, was an outstanding soccer feat.

The southern team never knew what it was to suffer a loss last season in 20 starts, and they have practically the same line-up this year. One of their losses, Elmer Brochu, was Kelowna's gain, however. The only close game Pentiction had last season was a tie, and it was the Hotspurs that earned that distinction.

There are a lot of reasons for the good start by the Kelowna team, but two of them are Bert Klarenbeek and Peter Pollman at the half back spot. Both boys are originally from Holland, where soccer is played from the time boys start walking. Peter is new with the club this year, and is shaping up very well indeed, by the token of Sunday's play.

Bert is playing for his second year, but wasn't able to give his best last year due to a knee injury. In Holland, he was a first division player, which is the top flight standard, and it looks as though he will be a wonderful asset to the local club.

John Wiebe, Murray Mackie and Barney Woods are old "veterans" on the Spurs forward line, and are showing well again this year. Woods scored two of the four goals the Spurs made against Pentiction, and the line was really clicking with smooth passing, and dangerous opposing zone work.

Ernie Fairholm, an inside right, was a hard working threat, and it was his sparking that was directly responsible for one of the goals, and he helped in another.

Rodney Dewhurst played a fine game in goal, subbing for Bob "Stretch" Reisch, who took time out from the season opener to tangle with some connubial vows.

It's a fine start, Hotspurs, and we will be right behind you to bring the crown back to Kelowna this year.

Swimming pool?

Was talking with blonde and curvaceous Joan McKinley the other day, and in the course of conversation she said, "If there was an indoor swimming pool in town, I would be back here tomorrow."

Of course, I realize that Joan in only one swimmer out of the hundreds of promising youngsters that Kelowna boasts. Promising, that is, until they get to the point where they need year-round practice and coaching to bring them to the point of perfection.

This is the point where they leave town or quit entertaining thoughts of doing anything else in the swimming world.

Joan made the choice in favor of swimming, and it meant she had to leave town, and make her home in Hollywood, where she can get the swimming and coaching she needs. But her eyes are still turned toward Kelowna, and that much-hoped-for swimming pool.

It may be only a bunch of water held together by concrete to a lot of people, but to kids like Joan, and they are in the hundreds, it is a vital necessity. And to Kelowna, home of the biggest water show in Canada, it is a must!

Lions need cubs

With the recent upsurge of interest in Canadian football, due to Annis Stukas and his roaring Lions, groups of kids can be seen playing "yards" and pick-up games of touch rugby, the not so dangerous equivalents of the big game.

Canadian football is having a tremendous play all across Canada, and in places in the Maritimes secondary school have leagues. High schools on the prairies have had active leagues for years in the all-Canadian version of the North American sport. These school leagues are the feeding lines to the big teams, and are a wonderful source of amusement and recreation.

While a costly uniform and equipment makes the rapid entry of this section of the country into the sport, prohibitive, and the danger of injuries makes many people backward about backing the game for youths, there is a wonderful substitute—touch football.

This fast, active sport requires no uniform or padding, but can be played in regular gym clothes, and gives the youngsters all the thrills of the passing, kicking and running of the game, without the danger of injuries that are usually incurred in the hard tackling and resultant scrimmages.

Leagues can be formed in this game, and all the good features of football given to the kids, with all the competition, and none of the injuries.

And who knows, maybe some of the cubs will become Lions some day.

one being Detroit's sale of Goal-keeper Terry Sawchuk to Boston Bruins. Red Wing manager Charlie

Adams, a shrewd hockey man apparently felt Sawchuk is past his peak. Replacing him will be Glen Hall, netminder for Detroit farm club Edmonton Flyers of the Western Canada League.

Detroit also dealt off tough Tony Leswick to Chicago and Glen Skov to Boston during the summer.

Other NHL teams will ice much the same squads as last season. Toronto Maple Leafs have a problem with the retirement of veteran sparkplug Ted Kennedy. Coach King Clancy admits Kennedy's skates will be hard to fill but has high hopes for young centre Bill Harris, a sensation with Toronto Marlboros of the Junior "A" Ontario Hockey Association.

It's obviously too early yet to probably assess the league this season. On paper, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto and Boston once again figure as the top contenders with New York, Chicago skating to catch the pack.

BIG MONEY IN TENNIS
If any of the current amateur tennis stars want to turn professional, all they have to do is sign on the dotted line. Pro tennis is making its most lucrative offers in history with three different groups competing for the star amateur crop.

The man at the head of the list is Bib Jack Kramer, a former U.S. amateur and pro champion. Kramer is in the best spot to get the pick of the amateurs chiefly because he is offering the most money. However, two other player-promoters, Frank Sedgman and Pancho Gonzales, are trying to move in on Kramer.

Both Sedgman and Gonzales built up their bankrolls while playing for the Kramer troupe. One expert says neither Lewis Head nor Ken Rosewall, Australia's Davis Cup ace, will turn pro for a share in the $40,000 million Gonzales has offered. Kramer is said to have made a bulk offer of $75,000. No one knows for sure what Sedgman has offered, but as a fellow-Australian Sedgman would probably have the inside track with Head and Rosewall.

SOCCER UPSET
The heavily favored Moscow Dynamos were beaten by the Fiorentina club in an exhibition soccer match at Florence, Italy, the other day.
